Witness After Witness
In Medina

Such Evidence Our Readers Cannot Dispute

As we take up the Sentinel week by week, we are struck by the hearty unmistakable way in which witness after witness speaks out as Mrs. Roshon does here. If these people were strangers living miles away, we might take little notice of them. But they are not. They are our neighbors, living among us. Their word is too easily proven to admit of any doubt. They speak out in the hope that their experience may be a guide to others.

Mrs. G. W. Roshon, 126 Mill street, Medina, O., says: "One of our family suffered from a very lame back and pains through the kidneys. Nothing seemed to give relief until Doan's Kidney Pills were used. After a box of this remedy was taken, the kidney trouble was relieved, together with the aches and pains. We know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy of merit."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Roshon recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Prop., Buffalo, N. Y.

TOO MUCH AREA WASTEFUL

"Put more acres in crops, has been the widespread advice given to farmers ever since the European war began," stated Prof. Henry G. Bell, soil expert of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in an interview in Chicago a few days ago. While it sounds convincing, this advice taken literally is likely to prove dangerous. To my mind, a better slogan would be, "Put more crops in your acres."

"Some farmers remind me," said the Professor, "of boys with whom I used to go blackberrying. They would scurry through the patch, picking off the berries that hung invitingly on one bush, then rushing to the next. Others cleaned each bush thoroughly, getting the 'big fellows' hidden by the leaves. The thorough pickers had the fullest pails of big berries."

"Frequently the planting of large areas in crops means that the soil is neglected to a larger extent than would otherwise be the case. More money can be made by planting the same area in crops and farming the present land better."

"Fixed costs practically do not vary when an area is planted in any particular crop. When this same area can be made to produce 80 bushels of corn instead of 40 bushels, the net profit per acre increases proportionately."

"Hence the big message to American farmers at this time is: Plant fewer acres or the same number of acres. Select better seed, plow deeper, prepare better, till more thoroughly and feed the crops with available plant food. This is not a theory but is proved by fact that such intensive farming has made it possible for the efficient farmer of Europe and of the Atlantic seaboard to almost treble the average yield of Middle Western crops. The total number of bushels produced will be larger—the profits greater—than were more acres sown.

USE BOTH TOGETHER

The Ohio Experiment Station has been conducting a series of interesting experiments to decide the question, "Do fertilizers show best results with or without lime?"

The startling answer of its experts, after several years' experience with the two agents, is "Use both."

In their tests, after the cost of the application of both lime and available plant food had been deducted, it was found that in four years the profit per acre resulting from this treatment was $35.98. The fertilizer alone, without the lime, made a profit per acre of $23.46. The fields which received no treatment earned barely $11.60 per acre.

There is an interesting suggestion to farmers in this fact that complete fertilizer used on land which had been limed, in impartial tests, practically doubled profits on the clay soils at the Ohio Experiment Station.
